Accommodation Payment and Key Features Statement

Updated: 1 January 2025

Welcome to KOPWAs Archbold House.

Archbold house comprises 98 single rooms( all with private ensuites) and 2 double rooms ( with ensuites). KOPWAs accommodation pricing has been approved pursuant to section 52G of the Aged Care Act 1997 (Cth).

Basic Daily Fee: This is an amount set by the government that everyone in residential care pays, which goes toward care needs and living expenses such as meals, laundry and cleaning. All residents pay the Basic Daily Fee. This fee is set by the Government at 85% of the standard full aged pension. As at 1 January 2025 the basic daily fee is $63.57.

Additional Services Daily Fee: This fee provides for a greater choice of services and amenities to enhance resident lifestyle. All residents pay the Additional Services Daily Fee.

Means Tested Care Fee

You may be required to help pay the costs of your care needs, depending on your financial situation. The amount you are expected to pay depends upon your level of income and assets. There is, however, a safety net, with a yearly cap of $34,174.16 and a lifetime cap of $82,018.15 (as at 1 January 2025) on the amount you have to pay.

Accommodation Payment: Residents can choose to pay the Accommodation Payment as a Refundable Accommodation Deposit, a Daily Accommodation Payment or a combination of both.

- Refundable Accommodation Deposit (RAD)

If you choose to pay the RAD as a lump sum you will be refunded this amount in full (less any agreed deductions) when you leave Residential Aged Care. This RAD refund is guaranteed by the Australian Government. If family members or others wish to contribute to your RAD, legal advice should be sought because the refund is paid to the estate of the former resident.

- Daily Accommodation Payment

If you do not pay a lump sum Refundable Accommodation Deposit, you can instead pay a non-refundable Daily Accommodation Payment or DAP. It is non-refundable because it is charged at a rate and is intended to reflect the interest earnings on the price of the room. This rate is known as the Maximum Permissible Interest Rate (or MPIR). This rate is set by the Australian Government and is applied at the date of resident admission. As at 1 January 2025 the MPIR is 8.42%.

- Combination Payment

There is also the option to pay your Accommodation Payment using a combination of RAD and DAP. Detailed below is information about each room type including key features and the Accommodation Payment that is payable. To assist you with understanding a combination payment, we have provided a worked example for each room type.
